The Royal Arms

About the Royal Warrant

The history of the Royal Warrant dates back to the Middle Ages, when the monarch selected the finest craftsmen in the country. Today, it is one of the world's most prestigious honors, granted only to companies that have continuously supplied goods or services to the Royal Household for at least five years and successfully passed an extremely rigorous and multifaceted evaluation process. The Royal Warrant is widely recognized throughout the United Kingdom.

Background of the Award

Amalgamated Lifts Ltd. received this recognition based on its eight years of modernization, maintenance, and management services for lifts installed in iconic historic buildings in the United Kingdom, including Buckingham Palace, St James's Palace, and Windsor Castle. In addition, the company met a broad range of evaluation criteria, including strong business foundations, contributions to society and local communities, environmental consideration, and sustainability management.

Comment from Yusuke Uchiyama, President of Fujitec UK Ltd.

"This is a remarkable achievement, and we are both grateful and proud to have received this honor. We remain fully committed to upholding the highest standards of safety and quality in serving the Royal Household, as well as all of our clients. We look forward to continuing to grow the business and build on this success."

Comment from John Brand, Managing Director of Amalgamated Lifts Ltd.

"Of all the achievements in our 38-year history, this is undoubtedly the most prestigious. We extend our sincere thanks to His Majesty The King for this recognition and to all those within the Royal Household we have had the privilege of working with over the years. This accolade reflects our unwavering commitment to delivering quality safely, underpinned by ethical and sustainable practices. It is a testament to the professionalism and dedication shown amongst our people. We will continue to uphold the excellent standards in everything that we do."
